

GROVEWELL's Vision for Global Leaders

GROVEWELL LLC supports a select group of forward-thinking global organizations in developing a cadre of leaders who Dare to Be WorldWise in thought and deed. These leaders are bold – exploring beyond what they already know to draw upon the best ideas and practices from the far reaches of their worldwide operations. These leaders are courageous – shepherding their organizations towards growth that is both global and sustainable while ensuring a legacy of a better planet for their children. With powerful yet humane and ethical guiding visions, these leaders embed prosperity and longevity throughout their organizations. They know that the bottom line isn't the only line.

GROVEWELL's globe-spanning community of WorldWise executive coaches and consultants dares to guide those leaders there through our unique approach to leader development: *Coaching for Global Advantage*SM. Our people embody what we bring to our clients: respect for and learning from diverse ways of thinking and doing; cultural competence and resilience gained through long, varied global corporate careers; and the ability to work with both heart and mind at the level of values and beliefs – the level at which transformative change takes root.

GROVEWELL has specialized in the development of global leaders since 1990. Its signature service, *Coaching for Global Advantage*SM, merges the methods of executive coaching with the research base of intercultural consulting, yielding coaching that is performance-driven, culturally calibrated, and genuinely global. GROVEWELL also offers strategic consulting, global leadership development programs, expatriate effectiveness coaching, virtual team facilitation, and consulting on the globalization of diversity. GROVEWELL is owned and operated by its two partners, interculturalist Dr. Cornelius N Grove and anthropologist Willa Zakin Hallowell.
